a thing that gives us hope and in the field of scouting. He has pulls people together. Scouting is the longest continued tenure in scouting than any one Negro.

He declared that over 800,000 people in the United States are adult volunteers in scouting. His contribution has been one that will be missed when he retires. Hundreds of leading Christian, who is also vice-president of the Scout Atlanta Area Council, listed three "important factors to consider in working in scouting." Negroes obtained from Taylor their first knowledge of the Boy Scouts of America among the Negro boys 9, 10, and 11 years of age.

1. God. Our whole concept of Christian thinking and respect for the brotherhood of man.

2. "Others. We should think of other people," Christian said, "the benefit we can be to mankind in general."

3. "Ourselves. We should think of ourselves in lines of improvement."

Christian then told his audience that people "should not look at it as an obligation but a privilege to work with boys."

Tukabatchee Scout Leaders Hear Inter-Racial Speaker

By E. P. WALLACE

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE —

Sixty enthusiastic workers in the field of scouting of the Tukabatchee Area Council heard A. J. Taylor of the Inter-Racial Service, Boy Scouts of America, at a division Boy Scouts banquet in the Oak Room in Dorothy's Hall Tuesday night.

The speaker spoke from the theme "Manpower in the Program of Scouting." He emphasized the importance of manpower. He also paid tribute to the 18 women who proved their interest for scouting through their presence.

National Director Taylor put stress on the South's oath. He pointed out there is a sermon imbedded within that oath and when men failed to give the boy a chance at scouting they deprive him of a wholesome life.

Speaker Taylor's talk was so thought-provoking until both men and women were literally lifted up to a pinnacle where they were able to visualize their own shortcomings.

In discussing the laws of scouting, Taylor challenged his audience to recruit men and women to work with the boys of color and to open those avenues which lead to a full life through Scouting.

"Open the door; not to Richard, but to 19,000 boys of color in the Tukabatchee Area Council," said he as he concluded.

Scout Executive William H. Edwards responded to the address and in a few words told of his experience and association with guest speaker Taylor.

A program interspersed with short "pep" talks, recognition and presentations preceded the feature address. Among those contributing to the success of the program were Thomas Gray, chairman central division, John King, E. P. Wallace, William Wiley, Capt. R. S. Darnaby, Harold Webb, T. M. Campbell and C. E. Trout. George Reed served as toastmaster.

The Acorn Award was won by Troops 193, 194 and 195 of Selma, Ala. Leaders were James Kimbrough, John Brown, C. D. Scott, with Charles B. Cook, William Lester and Alex Brown as assistants.

Troop 70, Tuskegee, was awarded the efficiency Rating Plaque. Dr. Henderson is the leader of that troop.

Several tohers were recipients of citations and trophies. They were T. M. Campbell, Thomas Gray, Capt. R. S. Darnaby, Capt. William Wiley, George Reed and E. P. Wallace.

Special recognition went to John Krouse, W. J. Love, Dr. M. W. Jones, R. R. Young and Henry Guilford. The above men are chairmen of operating committees that are vital to the life of Scouting.

Eight Scouts From Tuskegee Make Jamboree

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. — Eight members of Troop 70 participated in the National Boy Scouts Jamboree at a 3,000-acre camp-site located on an old Southern California rancho overlooking the Pacific.

Making the trip from Tuskegee Institute were Explorer Scouts Russell Davis, James Robinson, Donald McLaurin and Fielder Floyd; Scouts First Class George Cooper, Charles Trout, Ivory Naggles and William Stafford.

At the Jamboree they were part of the 50,000 Boy Scouts from hamlets and cities across the nation who heeded the old call — "Go West, Young Man." Thirty thousand tents dotted the landscape, and by night the days of the "Chuck Wagon" were relived when the boys prepared their own food taken from the camp commissary and cooked in charcoal fires.

En route, Troop 70 joined a special train carrying them to the Jamboree and passed through historic Mobile, New Orleans and El Paso, Texas. They made a side trip to Jaures, Mexico.

The camp was located on the 100,000-acre Spanish-grant Irvine Ranch overlooking the Pacific. Swimming in the Pacific, hiking, pageants, camp craft, singing, Hollywood stars, rodeos and good eats with no dishes to wash was the fare for the whole week beginning July 17. The Scouts ate from paper plates.

The health of the youngsters was protected by mobile dental units, doctors and first-aid stations. A helicopter ambulance system was in use.

Adequate camp supervision was set up in each of the 36 sections which had their own facilities for operation.

Dr. James H. M. Henderson, Scoutmaster for Troop 70 and an eminent research chemist with the Carver Foundation, made the Jamboree trip at community-shared experience. Each Scout had been properly instructed so that the trip would offer many opportunities for training in citizenship.

Special ceremonies were held at the Jamboree, including a speech by President Eisenhower and a pageant on the founding of the country. There was equal and free association between the 50,000 Boy Scouts the more than 150 Scouts from other nations who were invited to participate.

The Jamboree broke camp on July 27 and Troop 70 returned via Salt Lake City, Denver, Memphis and Birmingham. Homecoming was set for July 31.

First Alaska Negro Scout To Attend Jamboree

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, July 9—Curtis Robinson, a junior high school student and member of the Salvation Troop of the Anchorage Boy Scouts, is scheduled to leave for California early in July to attend the annual Boy Scout Jamboree. As far as is known, Curtis will be the first Negro from Alaska to attend this annual event.

When it was made known that young Robinson wanted to attend the Jamboree, a benefit was sponsored to raise the funds for his expenses. The amount raised was less than half the sum required. That meant that he would be disappointed or that his parents would be forced to foot the bill of about $600.

When the youth's plight was made known to Mrs. Gula Swanson, often called "Anchorage's First Lady," she teamed up with Mrs. Gertrude Thompson, another Alaska pioneer, and they canvassed business people and prominent citizens and quickly covered the deficit.

Aside from his scouting activities, young Robinson is a star newsboy. He has several older brothers, all of whom are scouts, except the youngest, who is a cub.

Negro Scouts Jimcrowed At Nat'l Jamboree

By HARRY LEVETTE

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—(ANP) A pall has been cast over the much-heralded third national Boy Scouts jamboree with complaints of jim crowism being lodged against state and national officials.

Jim-crow units of Negro scouts from Texas, Oklahoma, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama and Mississippi were reported although mixed camps prevailed among scouts from northern and western states.

National officials at Jamboree headquarters asserted that whatever segregation there was, was instituted by state units which had complete control over housing for scouts from their state. Nothing, therefore, could be done about the situation, they added.

Plans for segregating southern Negro scouts were apparently formulated months ago by white state scout officials with the tacit consent of the National headquarters. Many Negro scouts, learning of the jim-crow plans in advance, indignantly decided not to attend the jamboree.

The Hollywood Coordinating council, which contributed much to the success of the jamboree by dispatching member stars to the encampment, roundly condemned the actions of the southern scout units.

The Johnson office of the Motion Producers association, representing the movie industry, hastened to go on record as being opposed to such discrimination.

Nearly 50,000 scouts from all parts of the nation attended the week-long jamboree, held near Santa Ana, Calif., 50 miles from Los Angeles.

50,000 BOY SCOUTS SET FOR JAMBOREE

New York Times
3d National Conclave Opens

Today — Eisenhower Bids

Group Aid Conservation

New York, N.Y.
By GLADWIN HILL

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LOS ANGELES, July 16—Fifty thousand Boy Scouts from all parts of this country and several foreign lands converged tonight on a 3,000-acre tract of sunbaked ranchland forty miles south of this city for their organization's third national jamboree. Jan. 7-17-53

The conclave, at Newport Beach, will formally open at 9 A. M. tomorrow with the bursting of an aerial bomb and simultaneous flag-raising ceremonies in the thirty-six separate sections of the improvised tent city. p. 12c

Some 5,000 scouts from New York and New Jersey, and some 1,500 from New England are attending. The participants are 12 years old or more. As many as 35,000 adult relatives and friends are expected also for the week-long program of activities and ceremonies.

The organization's first national jamboree was held in Washington, in 1937, and the second at Valley Forge, Pa., in 1950.

Meanwhile, more than 1,000 professional and volunteer administrative personnel of the movement met here for the forty-third annual meeting of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Eisenhower Hails Group

In a message to the meeting, President Eisenhower cited the Boy Scout organization as an important instrument in the maintenance of the nation's natural resources.

Addressing Dr. Arthur A. Schuck of New York, chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America, the President said:

"The wise and judicious use of our natural resources is of paramount concern to all Americans. The Boy Scouts of America, as heirs to the future, have much to lose or gain in the years ahead, depending on how those natural resources are managed today.

"A member of your national executive board and as honorary president of the Boy Scouts, I am familiar with your three-year program, under the slogan 'Forward on Liberty's Team.' In the final year of this program I believe that it would be particularly fitting if the Boy Scouts would undertake by concerted action to arouse recognition of the need for adequate protection and wise management of our soil, water, mineral, forest, grassland, and wildlife resources.

"I am confident that the Boy Scouts of America can make a very important contribution in conservation education, and I hope to learn of your acceptance of this opportunity to perform a national conservation Good Turn in 1954."

Dr. Schuck told the national council delegates he had assured the President that the suggestion would be carried out and that the council would "outline a general program in conservation as our major Good turn activity for 1954."

John M. Schiff of Oyster Bay L. I., was re-elected national president of the organization.

The council moved to continue the honorary presidency of President Eisenhower and the honorary vice presidencies of former Presidents Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman.

New elections to organization offices included: Ellsworth H. Augustus of Cleveland, vice president; F. Brittain Kennedy of Waban, Mass.; Robert N. Gibson of East Lansing, Mich., and Ed L. Kohnle of Dayton, Ohio, to three-year terms on the executive board, and Frank G. Hoover of North Canton, Ohio, as a life member of the board.

Dr. Schuck listed among the national movement's accomplishments for the year its nonpartisan get-out-the-vote campaign, which won a Freedom Foundation award; disaster service in floods, tornadoes and earthquakes; the obtaining of pledges for the American Red Cross' blood-bank drive; the collection of 1,146,000 pounds of clothing for domestic and international causes; the purchase and distribution of seeds for Asia; and participation in many conservation projects.
